Parneil's Amendment.

London, 26.-In the Commens, Par-London, 28.—In the Commens, Par-nell moved his amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne attacking the executive in Ireland for the administration of the crimes act. The language of the amendment was very violent and refers to the "unjust execu-tions." In making the amendment, Parnell said: "If there has been any reduction in the number of outrages in Ireland, it is only because the in Ireland, it is only because the people are being kept down by the brutal, terribis coercian act, admin-istered in a brutal terrible way."

Damages Paid.

Troy, N. Y., 26.—Miss Mary M.
Daniels, who presented a claim for $100,000 damages sgainst New York Central for injuries received in the Spuyten Duyvil disaster, has settled for $20,000, the largest sum ever paid by the company for personal injuries. A. B. Valentine, of Bennington, Vt., received $5,000 for the death of a son, and $5,000 for the death of Sotter's young bride. Both were killed in the same disaster.

Parnell.

London, 26,—The Times says Par-nell's speech was received with the profound repugnance, it excited in the house. This coolness is not maintained with entire success and maintained with entire success and does not supply courage so much as shamelessness; some consciousness of theuter inadequacy of his evasive quibbles to dispose of the charge, built upon very broad inductions, may account for the labored explanation mand the resort to ill-timed recommendations which marked his speech.

Star Routes.

Washington, 28.—Reredell's crossexamination was resumed in the star route trial to-day. He said he was satisfied that he did not tell Carpenter he had made the affidavit voluntarily. He may have told him he had written the memorandum shown to MacVeagh, and that he could closely imitate Dorsey's handwriting. He may have told him there were no suca books as those described by James; may have told French in 1831, at Dorsey's house, that he had conceived a plan of acting as a detective towards. James and MacVeagh; may have told him he was trying to get government to offer him a money consideration to go upon the stand, he to furnish them with the documentary evidence written by himself, but purporting to be in Dorsey's handwriting, and that he would then expose them. It was more than possible that he had told French he could imitate Dorsey's handwriting so closely that Dorsey himself could not detect it. Very likely he told French that after he got notes from MacVeagh he got so excited over the success of his plan that he told Dorsey, for the first time, what he had been doing and Dorsey told him to stop at once. He had no doubt that he told French there were no books, and that he had palmed off on James a shirt had no doubt that he told French there were no books, and that he had palmed off on James a shirt wrapped up in paper, for books. Had seen Basler in Dorsey's office in June, 1881. May have told him he had been trying to entrap McVragh into making some kind of offer to him; may have told Basler of the Smith and Jones entries; was not prepared to say he had initiated McVeagh's antics of illustrating his exultation over his revelations. When witness returned from New York he placed the book he had brought with him in an old value in his wood shed, and left it Paid in Capital - $200,000 Surplus - $150,000

H. S. Eldradge, President. When he returned he gave the book to Dersey in Basiler's presence. The witness said Dorsey put down the statement that there was no book, knowing it to be a lie, and witness work to it, knowing it to be a lie, and witness work to it, knowing it to be a lie, and witness work to it, knowing it to be a lie, and witness work to it, knowing it to be a lie, and witness work to it, knowing it to be a lie, and witness saw for to it, knowing it to be a lie, and witness work to it, knowing it to be a lie, and witness work to it, knowing it to be a lie, and witness work to it, knowing it to be a lie, and witness saw for to it, knowing it to be a lie, and witness saw for to it, knowing it to be a lie, and witness saw for to it, knowing it to be a lie, and witness saw for to it, knowing it to be a lie, and witness saw for to it, knowing it to be a lie, and witness saw for to it, knowing it to be a lie, and witness saw for to it, knowing it to be a lie, and witness saw of the salt lake city, U. T. Gilbert that MacVeagh offered him som did valise in his wood shed, and left it there when he went to Nebraska. When he returned he gave the book fam il any order on shortest notice. After the witness made the affidavit in June, Dorsey came to his house, and despite his explanations that the papers were private, he examined a great deal of correspondence and tore up a number of letters. After-wards witness went through the remaining papers, and ainong Dor-sey's vouchers he found the "Smith and Jones" memorandum, and stole
